

Festival of Hope, Ambassador

I was selected as an Ambassador to represent my school's International Baccalaureate programme in international forums consisting of over 50 schools. As ambassador, I oversaw all activities facilitated by the programme in a year-long Festival of Hope. My responsibilities included initiating activities on IB themes in all grades and encouraging youth-led discussion on various issues. It was a wonderful experience to interact and learn from other Ambassadors in different schools as well as immerse myself in the true values of the IB programme.

The Festival of Hope is an initiative of the IB where the main goal is collaboration and communication. It is a platform for students to advocate their journey to change since "real change begins when we choose hope".

In the classes of Grade 8, students crafted T-shirts reflecting their perspectives on personal and planetary well-being, demonstrating their awareness of the mutual influence between individual and global health.
